

All America Asked To Find Work For Jobless

Harding's "Jobless" Speech

Washington.—The text of President Harding's address at the opening of the unemployment conference Monday follows:

Ladies and gentlemen of the conference:

It is a pleasure to express to you in advance of your labors the gratitude of the government for your service to the nation. Perhaps it is not too much to say—a service to the world. Not so very long since I was receiving the call of a distinguished foreigner and in the course of our conversation he alluded to the conference which is met this morning and said, "Mr. President: Our people are deeply interested in the American conference on unemployment, because our problem is akin to your own and your relief in the United States will be an added signal of hope from America to us and other people who are alike depressed."

That remark of a distinguished foreigner emphasized our responsibility. If it be true that no citizen is without example to some one among his fellows, which I believe to be everlastingly true, then nations, great and small, are influencing others in all they do.

Applies to World

You are invited together to consider a condition which is in no wise peculiar to the United States. The industrial depression which we are feeling is a war inheritance throughout the world. We saw humanity stressed in that production which is impelled by nations desperate in self preservation. We saw the industrial call to arms which marshaled the family as well as the accustomed bread winners, and we saw the spiritual, mental and physical might of the people cast in the scales measuring the might of the republic. From such a test there is inevitable reaction. To such heights there is necessary ascent in inescapable descent. With the world involved there is no escape for any of the world from the valleys of depression. Though we suffered less than many of those with whom we were associated, and less than any of those against whom we contended, it was inevitable that we should experience the fever's aftermath and come to know depression before we could become normal again.

Miners Will Combat Move To Break Union

Attempt of Howat to Stampede Convention to Support His Outlaw Strike Program is Thwarted After Spirited Heckling.

By United Press Leased Wire
Indianapolis, Ind.—The United Mine Workers trained their legal guns Monday on efforts of sixty-three West Virginia mining companies to dissolve the organization, which has a membership of more than half a million.

President John L. Lewis and other international union officers met legal counsel to lay plans of defense against the suit pending in federal court here which seeks to prevent the collection of dues from the organized miners "for any purpose whatsoever." The suit was filed last week by the operators headed by the Borderland Coal corporation.

The conference was held in secret at headquarters of the union, while the miners convention in Tomlinson hall witnessed a growing intensity in the fight between Lewis and Alexander Howat, insurgent leaders of the Kansas union district, who refused to call off two outlaw strikes at the request of the Lewis administration.

Henry Warrum, chief counsel for the miners, and his assistants were called to meet the international executive board of the union, whose membership includes Lewis, Vice President Philip Murray and Secretary-Treasurer Wm. E. Green. All these officers and every other officer, even down to the local union leaders, were named defendants in the operators' suit for a temporary injunction to restrain the collection of dues.

There was much comment to the effect that the suit would unite the convention more solidly behind Lewis and his policies inasmuch as it strikes at the unauthorized walkouts such as Lewis attacked in Howat's case. Just before a United States marshal served the papers on Lewis at the convention Friday night, the miners' chief had warned the delegates that it was on such strikes the operators were basing their persistent attacks against the organization.

Henchmen of Alex Howat tried vainly to stampede the convention Monday.

Confusion greeted the efforts of delegates and international officers trying to uphold the union executive board which Howat defied in refusing to call off two outlaw strikes in the Kansas district of which he is president.

Next, he said, the immediate need for the coming winter must be coped with. Then restoration of commerce and unemployment generally to normal must be assisted. Preventive measures against recurrence of "acute reactions which result in employment" is also a vital part of the work, Hoover said.

Hoover said the quickest way to get results would be to organize at once into committees and take up the various phases of the problem in them, rather than in a general discussion. In accordance with the suggestion, the following permanent committees to prepare the conference program, select committees and assign to them various phases of the unemployment problem:

James Couzens, millionaire mayor of Detroit; Ida M. Tarbell, New York; Thomas V. O'Connor, president of the Longshoremen union Buffalo; Charles M. Schwab, New York; C. H. Markham, Chicago, president of the Illinois Central railroad; Matthew Woll, Chicago, vice president of the American Federation of Labor; Samuel McCune Lindsay, New York, professor of social Julius S. Barnes, Duluth, Minn.; Clarence Mott Wooley, Detroit, president of the American Radiator company; Harry S. Robinson, Los Angeles, former member of the United States shipping board.

Must Sacrifice

In the opinion of the president and other administration leaders, sacrifices must be made by both capital and labor if the present critical situation is to be relieved before winter comes.

Winnipeg, Man.—Hutton, a small town in Saskatchewan on the Canadian Pacific railway, was practically wiped out by fire Sunday. The fire which started in a poolroom did not cause any loss of life but razed 25 places of business and 10 dwellings for a total estimated loss of $300,000. Hutton is the center of a large grain territory.

Uncle Sam Also Must Resort To Wage Cuts

Administration Is Firm in Belief That Reductions in Navy Yard are Logical Answer to Demand for Government Economy.

Washington.—Wages must come down. The Harding administration faced with an issue of continuing the present wage scales in the navy yard here, resisted the appeals of organized labor and made a drastic cut. The controversy was carried up from the navy department to the cabinet where President Harding himself took a hand. Although private industry has been struggling with this question for months, the government has avoided giving any moral support to either side. When the navy yard dispute arose, the issue was inescapable and now the word has gone forth from the administration that the quickest way to normalcy hereabouts is by wage cuts.

The White House mails have been full of letters from taxpayers urging a diminution of government expenditure. The administration has felt that wage cuts especially in government enterprises is an inevitable and logical answer to the demand for economy.

Merchants Were Opposed

Curiously enough, the businessmen of the national capital pleaded for labor in the sense that the government was asked not to make the wage cuts so drastic. The Washington merchants were led to take this action by the argument that a cut in wages meant a curtailment of buying power. Labor headquarters admit they have consistently urged the relationship between the retail community and wage scales but nowhere has that theory been so conspicuously championed as here in the national capital. The plea however was unavailing. The Harding administration stood pat. Politically, speaking the endorsement by an administration of any issue that relates to wages always has its dangers. The Wilson administration granted practically every demand for wage increases and while earning the friendship of organized labor it lost the support of many employers who insisted that the government was setting an uncomfortable precedent. It is realized by administration officials that everything the government says on the subject of wages will be the basis of discussion by both sides. Fortunately for the Harding administration the railroad problem had been passed over to the railroad wage board, a separate institution, and the roads were in private hands so that the onus for wage reductions did not fall on the administration. The situation in the navy yards however is one in which the administration takes complete responsibility. The hope, of course, is that painful as the processes of reduced wages may be, the aim justifies the means and that when normalcy comes the scale of living costs will have been adjusted so that the cut in the pay envelope will not be so much resented.

Labor's Position Paradoxical

Organized labor is in a paradoxical position, however, with respect to the navy yard cuts. Labor has taken a firm stand for disarmament. The reduction in the work in the navy yards means a curtailment of government expenditure for armaments. Labor is enthusiastic for disarmament and cannot very well make much of an outcry against the laying off of workmen who are engaged in the armament race. On the other hand, it is reported that the purpose of the wage reduction is not alone government economy but an effort to transfer to the private interests much of the work that has heretofore been done in government yards. The government has always paid high grade mechanics a scale of wages higher than those in private yards. This has kept within the navy yards a class of skilled labor unexcelled outside the government. The drop in pay may drive these mechanics into the private yards and enable them to do more government work than heretofore. It may be that the movement for the abolition of government navy yards is growing. It is an age-old controversy with much to be said on both sides. But labor suspects that the private interests will reap an advantage from the cutting of wages and will gather in so many high grade workers as to enable them to get most of the construction work hereafter.

CHICAGO CALLS ON HARDING TO HELP DRIVE OUT BOOZE

Fitzmorris' Declaration Against Police Force Stirs City's Moral Forces

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Chicago's booze crisis was up to President Harding Monday.

Moral forces of the country's second largest city called upon the president to intervene in the situation caused by "the nullification of the eighteenth amendment."

Arthur Burrage Farwell, head of the Chicago Law and Order League, following the admission of Police Chief Fitzmorris that half of Chicago's police force of 5,000 men are bootleggers sent this wire to President Harding: "Situation caused by nullification of the eighteenth amendment in Chicago intolerable. Prohibition laws are being openly violated. Crime is on the increase. Writing you in detail in regard to this critical situation. Moral forces of the city will leave to your excellent judgement what should be done."

Want Blame Fixed

Farwell, leader of Chicago's reform element since 1871, in a letter to the president will ask the executive to use his influence to induce congress to send an investigating committee to Chicago with power to subpoena witnesses and fix the blame for the nullification.

The situation came to a head when Charles C. Fitzmorris, youthful police chief, transferred 800 of his force and made a statement in which he said half of the city's policemen are either bootleggers or are mixed up in illicit booze deals.

Federal investigation of the liquor traffic and the part played by Chicago policemen has been underway some time, according to District Attorney Clyne.

Chief Fitzmorris thus amplified his original statement today: "Prohibition enforcement in Chicago is a joke. That statement not only goes for the police force but for the citizenry."

"I'm going to divorce the police force from the illicit liquor traffic if I have to discharge half of the force."

Catholic and Protestant Mobs Continue Fights in Belfast —Bomb Kills Eight

By United Press Leased Wire
Belfast.—The "riot act" was read in Belfast's disturbed areas Monday afternoon for the first time in history.

Reinforcements were rushed to the Ulster capital and the military police redoubled their efforts to check the sporadic outbursts of fighting which continued.

Pierce fighting between Catholic and Protestant mobs continued throughout the night, and early Monday the military were still trying to disperse the battling factions.

Volleys of revolver and rifle fire, poured down York street by opposing gunmen shortly after midnight brought out the armored cars and repeated bursts of machine gun fire cleared the battle area of rioters. No sooner had the crown forces left the scene than the mobs again came together.

Eight deaths, four resulting from a bomb explosion earlier in the night's fighting and seventy wounded, was the toll of casualties for the weekend. Two young girls and a boy were wounded by rifle fire early Monday.

Early Sunday night a bomb was thrown into the midst of a Catholic mob which was drawn up opposite a crowd of unionists in Seaford street. It failed to explode and some one hurled it into the Protestant crowd, where it burst with terrific effect, killing four and wounding at least 57.

Police and Prohibition Officers Make Raids Late Saturday Afternoon

GET 10 GALLONS OF "MOON"

Jerry Berro Has Elaborate Outfit for Manufacture of Illicit Whisky

Swooping down without the slightest warning, officers raided four Appleton homes late Saturday afternoon, took two whiskey stills and confiscated nearly ten gallons of "moonshine." The raid was the first of its kind in Appleton.

Chief of Police George T. Prim, Detective John Duval and F. B. Laabs state prohibition enforcement agent, composed the party which entered the houses and seized the liquor and distilling equipment. The places raided were:

644 Bennett-st. occupied by Jerry Berro. Five-gallon still and four gallons of "moonshine" taken.

621 Bennett-st., occupied by August Wruck. Four-gallon still and two quarts of "moonshine" seized.

1165 Lawrence-st., occupied by Alex Mignon. Two quarts of liquor seized.

641 Locust-st., occupied by John DeDecker. Nine quart bottles of "moonshine" taken.

Get Search Warrants

Evidence that illicit traffic in liquor was in progress at these places was secured by Chief Prim and Detective Duval, and on this evidence search warrants were issued by District Attorney Fred A. Heidemann. Prohibition Agent Laabs arrived Saturday just in time to participate in the raid.

All the liquor and equipment taken was found in the basements of the houses entered. The still taken from the home of Jerry Berro was rather elaborate, consisting of a 5-gallon copper boiler from the top of which a funnel shaped spout protruded. The end of the spout was threaded to permit attachment of the "condensary" which consisted of a 12-gallon galvanized pail through which passed a coiled copper tube. One end of the tube passed through the bottom of the pail and the other end over the upper edge. When in operation, the pail was filled with cold water and the upper end of the tube was attached to the boiler. The distilled liquor was drawn off at the lower end of the coil.

Berro's complete "still" and liquor was found locked in a "vault" which he had carefully prepared in the floor of his basement. A ponderous padlock was intended to shield the contents of the heavy chest sunk in the floor from prying eyes but the key was surrendered to the officers without parley.

In the other three places, the precautions taken had been less elaborate and the liquor was easily found on shelves. The seized beverage and equipment was carted to the police station and locked in a cell to await disposal by the court.

Owners of the "stills" are employed men, according to the officers, and the process of distillation was carried on during their leisure hours.

Wruck and Berro were taken into municipal court Monday morning formally charged with selling intoxicating liquor. They pleaded guilty and paid fines of $100 and costs. Mignon and DeDecker will appear in court Tuesday.

The search warrants served were sworn out by officer Laabs and were signed by Judge A. M. Spencer.

WOULDN'T BE GOOD WIFE, TAKES LIFE

Manitowoc.—Her failure to learn the home arts of cooking and sewing and other things that would befit her to become a housewife and her belief that she was good "only to pound a typewriter," Wauauau police say was the cause of the alleged suicide of Miss Alma Johns here Sunday night.

Miss Johns had been visiting with her sister-in-law here, who found the death note on her return from church. She notified the police and search was begun. Moans were heard coming from a spot near the lake. The girl was found in the water and efforts were made to revive her, but she died shortly after.

An autopsy will be held Monday to determine the exact cause of her death, as authorities believe the girl took poison before she jumped into the lake to insure death.

DROP SHOOTING CASE ON DEATH OF HEIRESS

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—The police announced that they had dropped investigation of the death of Miss Mildred Hanan heiress who died Sunday from bullet wounds inflicted Friday by her chum, Mrs. Grace Lawes. The latter afterward committed suicide.

"The motive undoubtedly was jealousy," Assistant District Attorney Wilson said. "We learned nothing in this regard from Miss Hanan, although she talked some to a detective shortly before she died, but we have enough information from other sources. There were no accomplices, however, and the case is closed with the death of both principals."

Try Woman "Bluebeard" For Murder Of Husband

By United Press Leased Wire
Twin Falls, Idaho.—Trial of the sensational case of Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged "female bluebeard", charged with murder, opened here Monday.

Seemingly unmoved by the opening of the proceedings, Mrs. Southard entered the court room, accompanied by Sheriff Sherman.

The defendant is specifically charged with murder of her fourth husband, Edward P. Meyer, but the state alleged she also poisoned three previous husbands, Robert C. Dooley of Twin Falls, William McHaffie of Harlin, Montana, and Harlan C. Lewis of Denver and Billings, Montana.

It was from these charges that the appellation of "female bluebeard" was bestowed upon her. In addition, the state asserts she poisoned the two year old baby of her husband and her brother-in-law, Edward Dooley. A special venire of seventy men has been called.

The state had subpoenaed 13 witnesses and expected to summon several others.

Mrs. Southard is specifically charged with poisoning Meyer with arsenic obtained from poison fly paper a month after they were married on August 10, 1920, in order to collect $10,000 life insurance which he held to have taken out at her request. The insurance companies became suspicious and refused payment. Mrs. Southard disappeared and later that year married Paul Vincent Southard, a petty officer in the navy, in Los Angeles. Shortly afterward he was transferred to Honolulu, where she was arrested and brought back to Twin Falls.

2 BOYS DISAPPEAR ON WAY TO SCHOOL

Milwaukee.—Police and county officials were asked Monday to aid in the search for two Marquette, Mich., boys—Rex and Finley East, 15 and 16, who following their arrival here last Tuesday, enroute to St. John Military academy at Delaford, vanished and have not been heard from since.

Milwaukee police and authorities throughout the state have joined in the search. It is believed the boys became confused in the name of the city to which they were going and went to Delavan instead.

The two boys left home at Marquette last Monday night, arriving in this city Tuesday morning. The baggage records show that they transferred their trunks to the Milwaukee road depot, apparently to continue to Delaford.

MORGAIN HEAD OF VALLEY FORESTERS

Organization of Bowling League Discussed at Meeting in Fond du Lac

Attorney John Morgan of Appleton was elected president of the Fond du Lac Valley Association of the Catholic Order of Foresters at the meeting in Fond du Lac Sunday afternoon.

One of the new features discussed at the meeting was the organization of a bowling league for the coming winter. Many courts of this district have bowling alleys and abundant material for a good league and the intention is to get organized as early in the winter as possible.

Other matters, including a lecture course and social program for the coming winter, were discussed. The next meeting of the association will be held at DePere early next spring. The meeting was held in Knights of Columbus hall and was attended by 75 delegates. Those from Appleton were J. J. Sherman, Gustave Keller, Wenzel Haseman, John Morgan, Henry A. Schmitz, Henry Guckenborg and Walter Sulp.

Crops are ripe and beyond danger of frost damage, even in the extreme northern counties. Soil filling is completed and much re-filling after setting has been done. Over one half of the corn for husking and shredding is cut and in shock. Some damage has been reported to corn which was blown down early in the month. Corn

Winter grains are doing exceptionally well. Wheat is up about four inches with a uniform stand. Early planted rye is up and seeding is general. New seedling of hay is improving. Constant iv clover is appearing where it had been thought to be burned out. Pastures are becoming luxuriant. Clover seed harvest has been hampered by rain and some in bud. Sugar beets are improving. Cabbage prospect is increasing. The general condition of stock is good.

THE STAGE

Frank Banta

Appleton is to have the pleasure of hearing Frank Banta, a youthful pianist who has created a name for himself by the wonderful control he exerts over the piano keyboard. He will appear with the Elgin Famous Victor Artists in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8:15 Wednesday.

Banta has made a study of modern ragtime just as Paderewski has studied the classics and as a result he has succeeded in doing stunts that very few pianists would care to attempt.

Famous for his clear cut tone in the recording of piano records he feels this is due to the fact he has developed his playing to the point where he does not have to depend on the pedals as many pianists do. The recording of successful piano records has always been a very difficult undertaking, due to the large number of vibrations the recording machine must take care of. A chord struck too loud, will record as a blur.

Quite a Beas Brummell in dress Banta is rather shy at first meeting but after becoming acquainted he is a most likable chap and has the faculty of retaining friends, a most valuable gift.

Appearing with Banta are Henry Burr, tenor, Albert Campbell, tenor, John Meyer, baritone, Frank Croxton, basso, Monroe Silver, monologist, Billy Murray, tenor-comedian, Fred Van Eps, banjoist, The Sterling Trio and The Peerless Quartet.

BETTER PAID THAN SENATOR

Mrs. Francis Parkinson Keyes

North Haverhill, N. H. — To be the wife of a United States senator would satisfy most women's ambition.

To mother three lively boys would keep most women occupied.

But this is only part of it with Frances Parkinson Keyes, whose revenues from her writings exceed the salary of her husband and is senator from New Hampshire.

Mrs. Keyes is putting a new novel, "The Career of David Noble," on the market in October.

Also she is vice president of the League of American Penwomen and business manager of their magazine, "The Penwoman," vice president of the Children of the American Revolution, adviser on the National Council of the Y. W. C. A., state chairman for New Hampshire of the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial Association, head of the publicity work of the Congressional Club, which issues a weekly bulletin, and—

But to exhaust the list would merely exhaust the reader.

It was the triple duties of writing, and rearing her boys and carrying out her social obligations as the wife of the governor of New Hampshire—or it was from the governorship that the senator stepped to his seat in the senate—that prepared Mrs. Keyes for her many present duties.

"I made more than a thousand calls in the capital last year," she says—and this is the more remarkable when it is noted that the Keyes do not keep a car.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR TO TAKE PART IN STATE GATHERING

Meet Next Friday Evening to Make Plans for Annual Conclave

A meeting of Appleton commandary, Knights Templar, will be held in the lodge rooms Friday evening for the purpose of determining how Appleton will be represented at the sixty-third annual conclave of the grand commandary at Milwaukee, Oct. 11. A meeting last Friday was not well enough attended to transact the business and it was postponed until this week, when the meeting will precede by a supper at 6:30.

Appleton has been asked to be represented in the parade and it is probable enough interest will be taken to arrange for such a representation. The parade will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and will terminate at the Milwaukee auditorium where competitive drills will be held.

A grand ball has been arranged and auto rides about Milwaukee and its suburbs will be provided for the visiting ladies. Railway fares will be reduced for those who attend the conclave.

WINNEBAGO CHEESE MEN TO ORGANIZE

Cheese producers of Winnebago county are meeting this week for the purpose of discussing a Winnebago county branch of the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation. Wesley Armstrong, Oshkosh, is chairman of the county organization committee.

Representatives of cheese factories in various sections of the county will hold separate meetings to elect delegates to a general meeting to be held in Neenah Friday evening, Sept. 30. The delegates will be guests of the Neenah Civic association which is making an effort to have the cooperative cheese warehouse located in that city. There is a good chance that the effort will be successful, according to word from Oshkosh.

FRENCH STUDENT AT LAWRENCE COLLEGE

The French student at Lawrence college this year will be a young man, M. Bioncourt. According to word received by Dr. Samuel Plantz, he will arrive in Appleton on Tuesday night and begin his work at once.

Miss Georgette Marchand who went to New Orleans from Lawrence also returned to France, but has not returned. Parts and Prologue—About 200 to be in Cast.

Marshals for the Red Cross of Peace, the pageant which is to be staged in Lawrence Memorial chapel Oct. 7 under the auspices of the Outagamie chapter of the American Red Cross are at work procuring the necessary material for their parts of the performance.

The pageant will be given in three actions and a prologue, portraying the past history of the Red Cross and its present place in the community. The period from 1860 to 1864 when Humanity calls forth Florence Nightingale in England, Clara Barton of Civil War fame in the United States and Henri Durand in Switzerland to serve is portrayed in the prologue. These three people were fired with the same passion to relieve suffering during the wars and form the beginning of the history of the Red Cross.

The first action shows the Red Cross of War on the stage with all her helpers for war service including the Junior Red Cross, the motor corps, sewing department, the field director in camp service, surgical dressing service, canteen service, knitting department, home service secretary, nursing service, and overseas personnel. These characters show the work of the Red Cross of War in vivid and picturesque manner. In the second action, the figure of the Red Cross of War is changed to that of the Red Cross of Peace and the Spirit of Columbia commissions her to carry on a peace-time program of national and international relief. The third action shows the returned soldier as he finds the Red Cross of Peace a teacher, leader and servant.

Part two, in five actions shows the Red Cross at work in your community. The actual nursing service offered by the Outagamie county nurses.

is shown in action one, while action two shows the service offered to the community in the local office of the Red Cross. Two actions in this part demonstrate the health and relief program in connection with the Junior Red Cross. The fourth action is one of the biggest in the entire pageant being the presentation of the work of the Red Cross in a great disaster scene.

More than 200 people take part in the final section when all the characters are assembled together for a picturesque tableau.

NATIONALIZING THE COAL MINES
It is perhaps significant that at the annual convention of the United Mine workers at Indianapolis, President John A. Lewis counselled the miners to defer action on their plans to nationalize the coal properties and asked for the appointment of a special committee to make a further investigation. Mr. Lewis considered it "extremely doubtful" that the people would consent to an increase in taxation for the purchase of the mines by the federal government.
Undoubtedly Mr. Lewis is correct in his view that the people would not at this time authorize the use of the national credit for such an undertaking. It is practically forbidden by the present state of the treasury and the problem of reducing rather than increasing taxation. We are in no more danger of the nationalization of the coal mines than nationalization of the railroads.
However, the owners of the coal properties must not delude themselves with the belief that the plan to nationalize their industry may not materialize. As an academic proposition the plan would undoubtedly be overwhelmingly voted down, but the public is not going to submit indefinitely to excessive prices for fuel and periodical famines in supply. The abuses which have long continued in the coal industry present a practical problem that will without question be solved by nationalization of the mines in case no other remedy is found. If coal producers are wise they will see to it in the next few years that their industry is placed on a basis that will afford the people of the United States an ample supply of fuel at all times at a price based upon a reasonable profit.

PREPAREDNESS AND ECONOMY
It cost "only" $291,157,847 to run the national government during the month of August. This is for actual government expenses and does not include the financing of the public debt. It is $30,660,722 less than in July. Presumably it is due to the work of Budget Director Daves. The saving of $30,000,000 in one month will make the taxpayers rejoice.
There is another side to the picture, however, which is not so pleasing. During the month of August the army and navy departments spent $95,000,000, which is more than it normally cost to run the whole machinery of national government before the war. Preparedness is costing us well over a billion dollars a year. The relation of the disarmament conference to taxation and to our economic prosperity is obvious.

STEWART'S ASTIGMATIC VISION
John A. Stewart, of New York City, chairman of the Board of the American Rotary societies in Ottawa, Canada that the formation of such societies as the Imperial Wizard's Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan was a protest against the activities of the aliens and naturalized citizens. As long, he said, as their activities fall within the law, they have a legal right to exist.
Organizations like the Ku Klux Klan foster racial and religious prejudice under the mask of Americanism, and, while posing as truly American, violate the cardinal principles of the United States constitution. If there are un-American societies or associations in America, the law and power of the government can suppress them and the people will not tolerate them.
There is a pharisaical Americanism, peculiar to certain persons of erroneous outlook and narrow opinion, which finds imaginary flaws in the patriotism of their fellow-citizens. Mr. Stewart's American-ism is academic and exacting. Mr. Stewart's ideas of Americanism must be decidedly eccentric, inasmuch as they impel him to defend indirectly persecution as a protest against fancied alien plots against the United States.

THE PUBLIC PAYS THE FIRE BILL
Fire losses are paid by the public, not by the insurance companies. The total loss from fire in the United States and Canada last year was $500,000,000, the largest since the San Francisco earthquake. Still more forceful is the fact that eighty per cent of the fire losses are preventable.
Bluntly expressed the negligence of persons who pay for insurance is responsible for eight-tenths of the losses. With more care, and chiefly ordinary care, the total of the fire loss could be reduced from $500,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year. And the saving of $400,000,000 automatically would cause insurance rates to decrease and effect this extra saving. Matches, cigars, cigarettes, amateur electrical wiring and thoughtless use of electrical attachments cause most of the fires, damages and loss.
The fact that the public pays for the losses, plus the cost of carrying on the insurance business, should induce persons to be more careful and to cooperate in movements for fire prevention. It is quite obvious that insurance companies must derive their losses, as well as their operating expenses and profits from the money collected in premiums, and there is no question as to the truth of the statement that the public paid $500,000,000 of loss last year, and much more besides.

DISARMAMENT AND PUBLICITY
The success of the forthcoming disarmament conference will depend largely upon whether the sessions are open or closed. There is a world-wide movement to force open sessions. This movement is particularly strong in the United States, where the demand for full and complete publicity is practically unanimous. The reasons for this agitation are apparent.
If substantial and permanent disarmament is to be brought about it will come through the demand of the peoples it vitally affects. Neither politicians nor statesmen, if left to secret diplomacy, will take this all-important step in good faith and in good measure. It follows, therefore, that open sessions with the fullest publicity of the conference are indispensable to the accomplishment of its purposes and for the relief of humanity from the oppressive burdens of militarism.
If the sessions are not open the peoples of the nations represented will have every reason to believe that the subject is not being approached candidly and that results will be unsatisfactory if not negative. The hope of disarmament lies in the popular rather than the political appeal.

TODAY'S POEM
By Berton Braloy
"I KNEW HIM WHEN—"
"I knew him when he was only this.
I knew him when he was only that."
You've heard the gossips snarl and hiss
And learned their stories directed at
The man who struggles to wealth or fame
And wins the praise of his fellow men.
There's always a bunch that greets his name
With raucous laughter—"We knew him, when—"
They "knew him, when—" and they think it smart
To tell of his early days, and touch
On the humble way that he got his start.
(They didn't help him, of course—not much)
And they seem to think that they minimize
His honest worth when they turn again
And point the distance he had to rise.
By loudly cackling, "I knew him, when—"
"I knew him, when—" it's the Failure's sneer
At the man who won, it's the phrase that shows
How one with vision true and clear
Labored and struggled and fought—and rose.
While the little men in their littleness
Paternal and doubted and feared, and then,
Seeking vainly to feel secure,
Mutter and sputter, "We knew him, when—"

CHINA CEMENT
Take dissolved gum arabic and stir in enough plaster of paris to make a soft paste. This is almost colorless and acts excellently as cement for china. For very delicate china or porcelain have the pieces tied carefully together with tape. It is then ready to put into a saucepan of milk and the milk very gradually brought to the boiling point; remove the saucepan from fire and let china stay in it about six minutes; lift out carefully and set to dry.

Smoking is American Habit
Many efforts have been made to show that the use of tobacco was known to the ancient Greeks and Egyptians, but they never have been successful. The belief is generally accepted that the American aborigines were the first to make use of the weed and that Columbus was the first man to chronicle its use.

ONE OF THE MYSTERIES.
Why is it that a barber always seems to take particular delight in brushing a man's hair the way he doesn't like it?—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Pennsylvania railroad engineer lost his life when he attempted to chloroform a pet cat at his home in Paoli, Pa., while his family was away. The cat scratched and struggled as he tried to hold the chloroformed rag to its nose. He fell unconscious and died from the fumes. The cat ran away.

THE ALMIGHTY DOLLAR
An inexperienced young mother takes the pulpit today, brethren and sisters:
"I am the mother of a healthy four weeks old baby. I have nursed him so far, and am able to continue without any difficulty, but I don't see the use of tying myself down when he could thrive just as well probably on some prepared baby food. If I were free, I could return to my job and help out with the family finances. My husband thinks I should nurse the baby and forget about earning money, but he can't give me any real reason why I shouldn't put the baby on the bottle. He reminds me of the nurse who says, 'I should do the same just because my mother did. My parents are not living.'"
"Of course, I want to do the best for my baby at any cost, but just why is it better to nurse a baby than to put the baby on the bottle, when you see so many thrive on the bottle? My husband is only 22. Do you think he is old enough to know very much about it? I shall be glad if you will kindly decide which of us is right."
Yours truly,
Mrs. ———
Only 22? At 22 I was giving advice to mothers on "How to Save the Baby," and even facing grandmothers and daring to run counter to their views in many cases. At 22 I knew more about babies and such things than I've ever known since.
The greatest service a woman can render the world is the nursing of her own baby. Why, even a hired wet nurse is paid more money for her working time than any other woman can earn at her regular job.
A baby has a six to one chance of surviving a year if nursed for at least eight months and then intelligently fed with clean, wholesome modified milk and other foods. The baby whose mother shirks this duty or fails in the attempt at nursing, has only a four to one chance of surviving a year. How much is a baby worth? Was there ever a job open to a woman that pays one-tenth as much as health insurance for the baby?
Some 75 per cent of mothers shirk the responsibility of nursing their babies in order to "free" them to run around to card parties, dances, receptions and shows. Heaven pity them. Hundred per cent mothers find happiness or the nearest thing to it there is to be found in this world, by sticking to their babies until the young ones are able to shift for themselves—these 100 per cent mothers being just as loyal to their young as a bear to her cubs. The nursing of an infant means health for the infant and health for the mother, the shirking of the job brings misfortune to both.
A correspondent evidently has a man for a husband and even tho he is a very young man, she will make no mistake in adhering to her promise to love, honor and obey him.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Care of the Hair
Is borax injurious to the hair if a small amount is used to soften the water and the hair is well rinsed after a shampoo? (Miss T. E. M.)
Answer—No.
Gaining Weight
Where can I get a menu for two weeks' (49) meals for a person 25 pounds underweight? (M. C.)
Answer—Glad to send you suggestions for increasing the weight, if you will repeat your request and enclose a stamped addressed envelope for reply.
Running Ear
Can you tell me the cause of running ear? (Jeanne)
Answer—Usually it is caused by some infection of the middle ("inner") ear cavity, which infection has gained entrance from the nose or throat thru the eustachian tube. Therefore the original source of the trouble is generally found to be infected tonsils or some chronic disease of the nasal lining. And treatment of the nose or throat is usually required. Sometimes a running ear indicates only a boil or other infection of the external ear canal.
Varicocle
Please tell me the cause of varicocle? whether it is dangerous, and the cure if there is any cure.—(H. J. S.)
Answer—The cause is the same as the cause of varicose or enlarged veins anywhere in the body—upright posture, faulty physical training, tight clothing. It is generally a harmless condition, tho now and then sufficiently annoying as to require surgical treatment. A considerable proportion of vigorous young men selected for army service had moderate varicocle.

LOTUS OLDTIME FOOD
Herodotus of Halicarnassus, in his record of travels and researches through the world of his period, wrote of the Egyptians who dwell in the morasses as being especially fond of the lotus and they found it to be of great value as food. Herodotus wrote, "When the Nile is full and has made the plain like a sea, great numbers of lilies, which the Egyptians call 'lotus,' spring up in the water." These, according to Herodotus, they gathered and dried in the sun and "then, having pouped, they make bread of lotus, which resembles a pumkin, they wrote that it is and is called 'lotus' and is of the size of an apple."

Picture VS. The Book
By Frederic J. Haskin
New York City—Teach it by moving pictures instead of by books!
This suggestion, long championed by such ardent educators as H. Wells is now meeting with widespread approval in this country. After many years of patient obscurity, the educational film is distinctly coming into its own. Not only is it greatly in demand by public schools, universities and churches but the general public is showing an unexpected enthusiasm for it. Producers of educational features are finding it difficult to supply all the orders they receive for home projection machines while New York moving picture theatres have recently discovered, somewhat to their amazement, that an exceptional animal or travel picture, properly featured, attracts as many patrons as an all-star theatrical film.
The fact is that large numbers of people who would be bored by most travel books and who would be incapable of concentrating on a scientific article, are quite eager to absorb information through the comfortable medium of the screen. The reading of books, with the exception of light, popular fiction, requires understanding and imagination on the part of the reader, while looking at a film does not. Many unkind things have been said against the movies, but this may be said in their favor: They are making the average American better informed. They are bringing to great masses of people who cannot afford to travel, glimpses of foreign lands, interesting personalities and curious facts. In other words, they are disseminating useful knowledge in a painless, effective fashion.
The extent to which educational films are used is now so vast that a combination of non-theatrical producer was recently formed to establish exchange throughout the United States for the distribution of pictures of purely educational character. This combination plans to enlarge the field for their products, but in the meantime it is kept busy supplying the field which already exists.
Movies in Church and Home
According to one of these producers there are 44,000 churches in this country which regularly use motion pictures, of which the Roman Catholics number 17,000 and the Methodists 10,700. Departments of visual education have been established in most of our universities, while projection machines are owned by nearly 60 per cent of our elementary schools.
Then there are numerous organizations and clubs which use educational movies as a regular thing. Among these are the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., the American Federation of Women's Clubs, and societies devoted to nature study, animal lore, welfare work, health, civics, drama, history and travel. The use of moving pictures among such societies is growing at such a rapid rate that the 12 manufacturers now producing standard portable projectors are planning to turn them out during the coming year at the rate of 1,200 to 1,500 a week in order to keep up with the extraordinary demand.
The educational film has also become an indispensable feature of the large manufacturing plant, which uses it not only to advertise its goods but for educational work among its employees. "Safety first" films have done more than any other one thing, it is said, to cut down the number of industrial accidents, while they have also been instrumental in smoothing out differences existing between employers and employees. It is estimated that there are 6,000 manufacturers in this country who provide moving pictures for their employees every day at noon. One large mining corporation has built nine moving picture theatres for the benefit of its workers, one of which cost $400,000.
Besides these permanent sources of demand, there is an ever-growing demand for non-theatrical films for use in private homes. "Nobody realizes how many projecting machines are in use in private homes," says one producer of educational features. "There are 23,000 of these in use in the United States, and probably 15,000 more which are idle because it is impossible to supply pictures for them. For these we are asked to make up a program with comedy suitable for children."

Scramble's Song
Scramble Squirrel was swinging himself on a wild grapevine—swinging and singing. He was very happy because Old Sizzly Dry Weather had gone south, pinecones were becoming thick and plentiful, acorns, too, and beechnuts, chestnuts, hickory nuts, and hazel nuts were coming along.

Oh, glad winter's over am I,

"Oh I'm glad that it's summer, I am I am,
"Oh, glad that it's summer am I,
With roses and bluebells and lilies so sweet,
And orchards chuck full of such good things to eat,
And fluffy white clouds in the sky.

The Eight Famous Victor Artists

THE EIGHT FAMOUS VICTOR ARTISTS — who are being brought by Our Victrola Department to the Lawrence Memorial Chapel on Wednesday evening, September 28, is a further extension of our "Service Plan." These artists are by far the most popular of the record artists today. They reach perhaps a larger multitude than any other artists catering to a popular appeal.

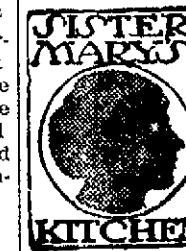

It is because of the wide sale of Victor Records by these artists and their popularity with our clientele that we are bringing them to this city, to afford the public an opportunity to see and hear in person these artists who thru the Victrola are entertaining the world. It affords the public an opportunity to compare the artists—work, voice and personality with the records they have made.

This is not a "tone-recital," not a demonstration of Victrolas or Victor Records. It is distinctively a concert and entertainment, a program of mirth, music and melody, both vocal and instrumental, embracing the late song hits and the popular songs of the day. Concerted numbers by the "Peerless Quartette" and the "Sterling Trio." The public's hearty reception of the plan demonstrates their approval. We can assure you that you will find this program one of the most interesting you have ever heard and you will long remember these artists.

Seats are on sale until Six P. M. Wednesday at Carroll's Music Shop. After 6:30 P. M. seats can be secured at the box office at Lawrence Chapel.

Buy Nuts In Quantities

If the housekeeper who must buy her nuts will watch for sales and buy in a large quantity she will not find nuts too expensive to use. Many an otherwise uninteresting salad or dessert is improved if nuts are added. It pays to keep them shelled and read to use, for often when most needed it takes too long to prepare them.

After shelling store nuts in a cool place in a comparatively air tight container. They will keep for weeks.

Nuts are invaluable for dressing up a dinner for an unexpected guest. Sprinkle ground nuts over cup custards add coarsely chopped nuts to shredded cabbage, add holly chestnuts to any creamed vegetable.

Nut Ball Salad

Two packages cream cheese or home-made cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons cream, 1/2 cup ground nut, 1 stick and 1/2 cup ground green pepper, salt, paprika.

Mash cheese and add cream to make smooth. Add nuts and salt and form into small balls. Sprinkle with paprika. Serve on lettuce leaves with strips of pimento or minced pepper. Serve with toasted crackers and French dressing.

This is a very good emergency salad for either the country or town housekeeper to keep in mind.

mixed together. Serve on lettuce with a cream dressing. Sprinkle the top crust of an apple pie with finely ground nuts just before putting in the oven. Walnuts, hickory nuts or pecans are best for this.

Pare and core apples and cook in a heavy syrup until tender, but not broken. Sprinkle with finely chopped nuts and serve with or without whipped cream. Either of these desserts can be dressed up in a minute if the nuts are ready.

IN BED EIGHT MONTHS

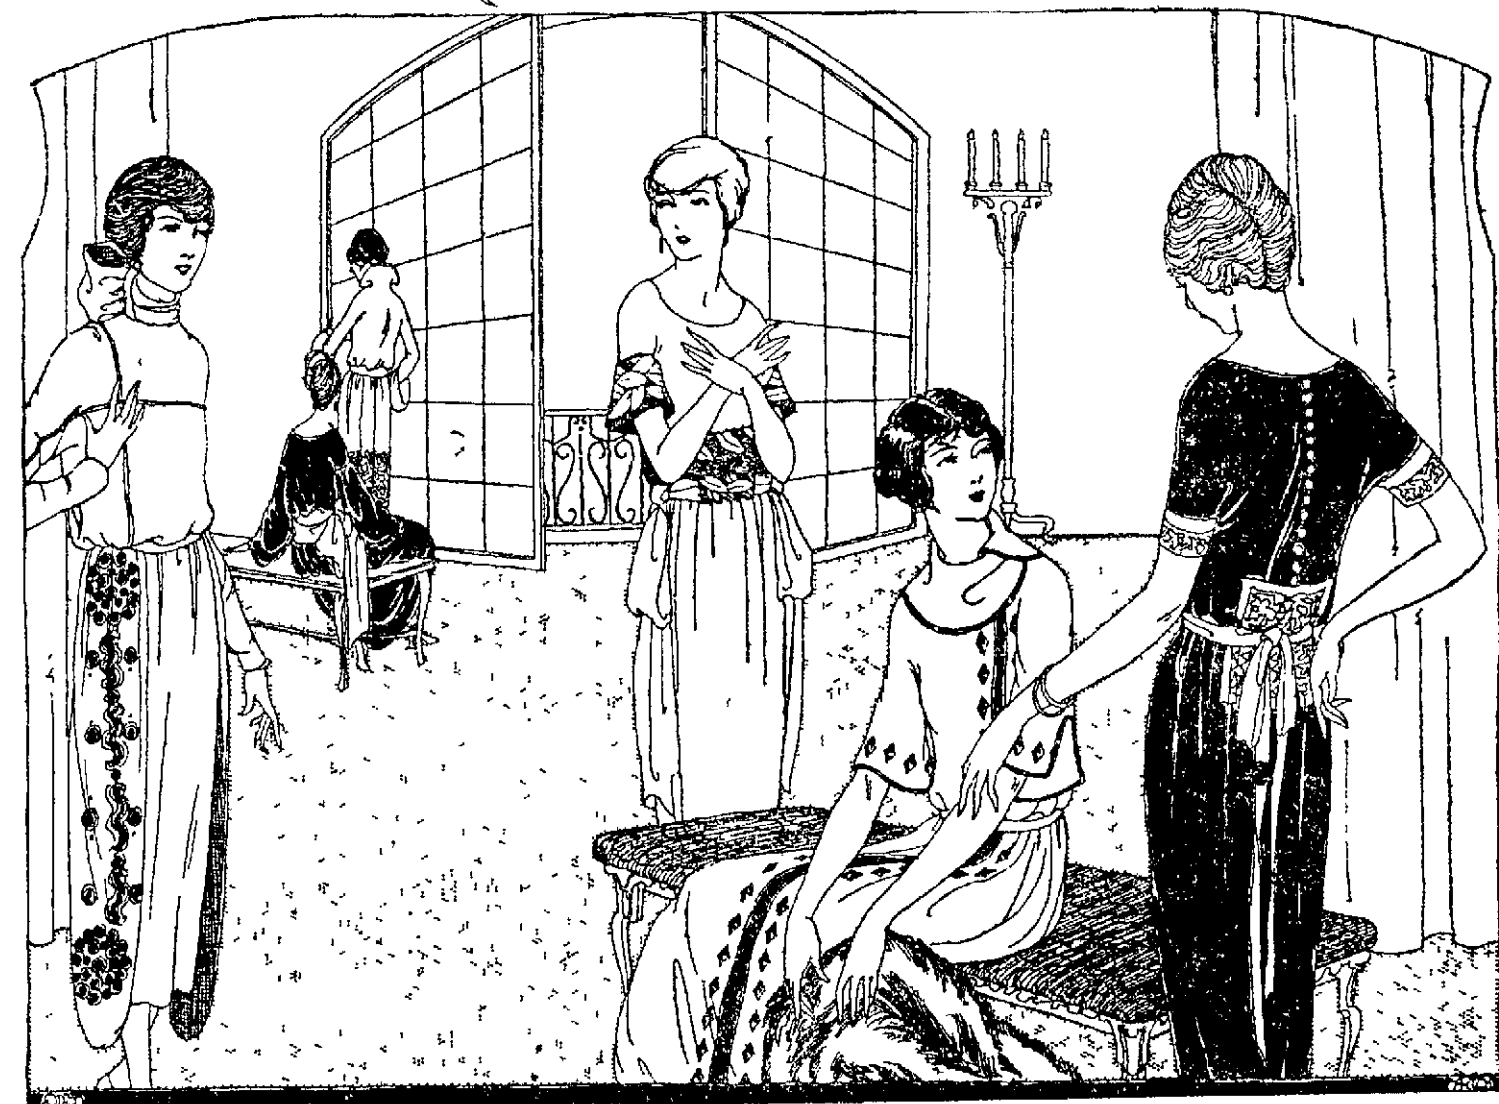

Cause—Change of Life. How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Got Me Up

Afton, Tenn.—"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. During the Change of Life I was in bed for eight months and had two good doctors treating me but they did me no good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did and in a short time felt better. I had all kinds of bad spells, but they all left me. Now when I feel weak and nervous I take the Vegetable Compound and it always does me good. I wish all women would try it during the Change of Life for I know it will do them good."
—Mrs. A. KELLER, Afton, Tennessee.

Women from forty-five to fifty years of age should take warning from such symptoms as heat flashes, palpitation of the heart, smothering or fainting spells, or spots before the eyes, and prepare their system for this perfectly natural change by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has helped many, many women through this trying period, just as it did Mrs. Keller.

REFUSES PARDON FOR 2 PRISONERS

Gov. Blaine Gives Pointed Reasons Why Clemency is Not Extended

Madison—Governor John J. Blaine made some unusual though logical comments in denying executive clemency to two prisoners who have appealed for pardon.

Slawko Wukobratoyek is serving a sentence of 15 years for assault and robbery, his second offense. In denying the pardon Gov. Blaine declared: "He has served scarcely eight months of the fifteen year term. It is true the sentence is rather severe, but executive clemency should not be considered when there are two other confederates guilty of the same offense unless they are all considered together."

"It should also be understood that on long term sentences the convict should serve a length of time sufficient to demonstrate whether or not there has been any reformation. Imprisonment is for two purposes: reformation of the individual and for the purpose of acting as a deterrent with respect to others. The first cause only can be given the first cause only after a sufficient term has been served to demonstrate the ability of the inmate to become a good citizen."

George W. Schoenbeck was convicted in Milwaukee June 29, 1917 of the theft of an auto and sentenced to state prison for five years. He had served an indeterminate sentence in the Ohio reformatory. Commenting on his case in denying the pardon, Gov. Blaine said:

"He was released from Waupun April 17, 1920 on parole, and a good position was procured for him. He violated his parole. Had he kept his good behavior and remained on parole he would have long since been discharged. He now asks to be done for him what he had an opportunity to do for himself. To grant executive clemency to those violating their parole agreements has an injurious effect with respect to others who might receive a parole."

TWO CHILDREN, PLAYING WITH GUNS, ARE SHOT

Three Persons Injured by Gun-shot in Kaukauna Over Weekend

Kaukauna—Frank Effa, 9, son of Peter Effa, and Regina Kern, daughter of Frank Kern both of Tanner's addition, were shot and probably severely wounded Saturday noon by Joseph Kern, 7, when the two boys picked up a rifle and a shotgun which had been left standing on the porch by the children's older brothers who had returned to dinner from a hunting trip. The two boys, Joseph Kern and Frank Effa, picked up the guns pointed them at each other and said "Hands Up" after the manner of bandits. Both pulled the triggers. The shotgun had been left loaded and young Effa was struck in the leg. Regina Kern, who was standing behind and to one side of the Effa boy received a scattering of the shot in the face, neck and right leg.

Hunter Is Injured
Edward Spanner, Tanner's addition, was the first hunting victim in this city when he was shot in the hand while attempting to crawl through a fence on a hunting trip. His accident preceded by a few hours the shooting in which Frank Effa and Regina Kern were injured. The shot passed through Spanner's hand between the thumb and fingers but it is thought it will not be necessary to amputate the hand.

Garage on Fire
The fire department was called to the Hennes Auto Co. garage late Friday night to extinguish flames which were consuming a Ford which had been stored for the night. The origin of the fire has been undetermined but it is thought it was caused by a cigarette spark. The seats were entirely burned and the body is somewhat scorched.

KAUKAUNA AND NEW LONDON IN A TIE

High School Football Teams Battle for an Hour Without Scoring

Kaukauna—Kaukauna high school's first game of season Saturday afternoon against New London was a game of scoreless give and take with the advantage clearly on the local side. Three times Water-pool's team came within the 15 yard line and a drop kick or even straight plays would have sent the team to victory, but in two instances forward passes were tried and were intercepted by the visitors. Time was called for the first half while Kaukauna was in the act of ripping New London down the back and making terrific gains and again in the last quarter with about two minutes to play, the boys made a desperate attempt to gain the line and break the scoreless tie before the whistle blew.

It was evident from the beginning that New London would feature passes but the Kaukauna team had been trained to that form of football and few passes were successful. Smith, Ott and Luckow formed a backline that was hard to hold. Luckow as quarter called the signals while Ott, the bulldog fullback, was veritable stone wall. He went through the New London line and gained from six to eight yards with each rush. Peranteau, the freshman right half, was too light to distinguish himself often, but he carried the ball like a veteran and showed experience at the game when he picked a hole on a trick play for a gain of 30 yards, by far the largest gain of the battle.

With the exception of a few times when Kaukauna threatened to score and once when the New London machine came uncomfortably close to the last white line, the game was played in mid field.

Smith opened the game with a kick-off and the line held till New London lost the ball on downs. On the fourth down Smith barely made his yards and Kaukauna retained possession of the pigskin for another try. Ott,

Smith and Luckow alternated in bringing the leather to within the eight yard line where the ball went to New London on a forward pass.

Kaukauna was penalized five yards in the second quarter and in an attempt to regain the loss, Luckow tried a pass which was intercepted by a New Londoner who ran 20 yards before he was tackled. The Edison's stopped there and turned to the defensive after four downs. With the half nearly over, Peranteau ate up 30 yards of white lines, Ott plowed another seven yards and caught a pass for a gain but the period ended with the ball on New London's 15 yard line.

In the second half the line of battle shifted about evenly back and forth and once New London saved the game by grabbing a fumble on its 10 yard line.

The lineup:
New London—Trambauer, l. e; Fehrman, l. t; Smith, l. g; Myers, c; Rice, r. g; Pribnow, r. t; Kneip, r. e; Cims, f; Miller, l. b; Macklin, r. h; Klatt, q.

BRANDTS WHIP OSHKOSH IN LOOSELY PLAYED GAME

Home Runs, Errors and Sterling Fielding mix In 5 To 4 Game Sunday

Brandts Forced to Play Last Half of Ninth Inning to Take Game From Fighting Overalls—Schultz Is Steady.

All kinds of baseball was played in the hectic nine inning contest which the Brandts won from Oshkosh, 5 to 4, before a fair sized crowd Sunday afternoon. In spite of the unusually large number of errors the game was of intense interest and was noticeable from the fact that most of the bugs remained in their places until the last ball was thrown.

Manager Mike Murphy, who got into the game when he took Wood's turn at the bat in the last of the ninth, braved one of the Stevenson's fast balls and this act brought about the victory for the Brandts because it unnerved the Oshkosh hurler and finally resulted in the winning run.

Luedtke, formerly of New London, playing right field, started the last inning attack with a single. Mike stood at the plate while Stevenson shot a ball at him and went to first in spite of the protests of the Oshkosh clan. Schultz sacrificed both men along one base and then Bergerino, a Milwaukeean playing second base, broke up the battle with a single to right which scored Luedtke with the winning run.

Errors were partially responsible for three of the Brandts runs and Oshkosh scored twice because of misplays. Brandt and Runke, probably the weakest hitters on the Oshkosh team, smashed out home runs in succession in the third inning. Brandt slugged the second ball pitched over the right field wall and then Runke slammed the first ball over the fence to the same place. Durain also whaled the ball over the right field fence for a home run and one of his long drives was picked off by Steen within inches of the fence.

Bratigam showed some real class at third base, making two sensational plays which helped Stevenson out of trouble. In the fifth inning he speared a line drive from Beyer's hand about three feet over his head. In the next inning he speared a liner off his shoe strings and whaled the ball to first in time to complete a double play.

Stevenson is Wild
It was hard to make a choice between pitchers but Schultz seemed to be steadier in the pinches. Both men were touched for several hits but Stevenson was a little wild at times, hitting three men and passing one. Schultz fanned ten batters while Stevenson whiffed only five. Three Oshkosh sluggers went down by strikeouts in the fifth inning.

The Brandts turned a break in luck into a run in the first inning. Bergerino, first up, stopped the ball with the small of his back and shot to second on Beyer's sacrifice. Mudloff laid down a pretty single in an effort to get Bergerino, Stevenson, however, headed up the catcher and trapped Bergerino on the paths. The pitcher's heave to third base went into left field and the new second baseman scored.

Poehlman's dropped fly gave the Brandts another run in the second. Durain singled, stole second and went the rest of the way around when Poehlman dropped Schultz's pop fly back of second.

Error Lets in Run
The Oshkosh evened up matters in the third frame with two runs and thereafter the game was nip and tuck until the sixth when Oshkosh scored. Poehlman, who has something of a reputation as a home run hitter, singled to left field, went second on a wild pitch and completed the circuit when Brandt let Brandt's pop fly get away from him. Durain evaded the count in the local half of the same inning by hitting for a home run and Schultz put the team in the lead by getting a life on a fielder's choice after two were out, strolled to second when Bergerino was hit by a pitched ball and scored while Poehlman was juggling Beyer's error. Stevenson's hits and Beyer's error permitted Oshkosh to tie the score in the eighth forcing the Brandts to play the last half of the ninth to grab the bacon.

BUCK HELPS GREEN BAY PACKERS WIN

Appleton Man Is Star in Game With Chicago Boosters on Sunday

Green Bay Packers, with Cub Buck as their greatest star, defeated the Chicago Boosters, 13 to 0, in a good game in Green Bay Sunday afternoon. Buck was by far the brightest star in the game. He played a wonderful defensive game, breaking up the Chicago attack time and time again, and punched home four times in the visiting line on the offense.

"Red" Elliot, former Lawrence star, played a great game in the backfield, carrying the ball well and tearing off some good gains. "Jab" Murray, formerly of Marquette, also played a good game in the Green Bay line. Nielson, Chicago fullback, was the strongest man on the visiting team.

MENASHA WINNER OF CHAMPIONSHIP OF FOX VALLEY

Schultz, Shott and Mudloff Will Not Play With Brandts Next Sunday

Menasha clinched first place in the battle for the Fox river valley championship by defeating Fond du Lac at Menasha Sunday afternoon, 9 to 4. Menasha and Appleton will play here next Sunday. If Appleton wins that game it will be sure of second place but if it loses and Oshkosh wins the Brandts will be tied with the Overalls for the second place. Fond du Lac is hopelessly out of the running.

Heath pitched a good game for the Menasha clan but he was aided by his teammates who got to Schultz, a brother of the Appleton pitcher, for a number of long swats.

Owper August Brandt is facing the task of finding three new players for Sunday. Schultz, Shott and Mudloff will play with the Palmolive team of Milwaukee at Akron, Ohio, next Sunday making it necessary to secure new men. Brandt is now in touch with several stars and hopes to be able to announce his selections within a day or two.

HIGHS WIN FROM WAUSAU IN OPENING GAME, 21 TO 7

Frisch Is Real Base Stealer

Frankie Frisch, the youth who he could do season has revived the lost major league art of base stealing, brings an interesting angle into the world series. Can he duplicate the feats of stars of the past? Or has world series base stealing gone into the discard along with the strikeout king?

Frisch, third baseman with the Giants, has stolen more than 50 bases on National League pitchers this year, almost double the thefts of his nearest competitors in both circuits.

And now Frisch is going into the world series to face the cream of American League pitchers. "What'll he do?" How good will he be? Based on standards of bygone years, Frisch's record for the season should be good for half a dozen thefts in the big tilt. But on the face of results in the past few seasons, he'll be lucky to collect two.

Eddie Collins is the premier thief among world series players — speaking of base thefts, of course. The White Sox speed merchant has figured in six of the fall classics and has a grand total of fourteen sacks checked up to his credit.

Even Eddie is finding the going of recent years more difficult. One stolen base was the best he could do against Cincinnati in the series with the Reds in 1919, although the had no difficulty in working Cub pitchers for four sacks when with the Athletics in the 1910 series.

Back in 1907, Slagle of the Cubs stole six bases during the world series against Detroit, and two years later Honus Wagner, the doughy Pittsburgh veteran, duplicated the feat against the same team.

In 1909 Wagner stole second three times in the third game of the series. In the fifth game Honus went to first when he was hit by a pitcher. By this time the pitcher was excited and Honus worked him into throwing the ball over the third baseman's head and then scrambled home.

In the Cub-Detroit series in 1908, with two out, Ty Cobb singled. Then he stole second and third, and he and Rossman nearly got away with a delayed double steal.

Who do you hear of ambling all the way around without a hit in the classics of today?

In the world series of 1920 between the Indians and Dodgers there were only three stolen bases in the seven games. In the series of 1916 one base was stolen by each team, duplicating the record made in the series the year before.

Compare that to the 1907 series between the Cubs and Detroit when runners stole 25 bases. Or the series two years later when 24 pilfered sacks were registered.

KAUKAUNA'S GRID TEAM EASILY WINS FROM CHAIR CITY

Legion Squad Downs Sheboygan Sunday Afternoon by 72 to 0 Score

It was like taking candy from a baby—that football game between the Sheboygan Champs and the Kaukauna American legion, Sunday afternoon at Kaukauna ball park when the visitors were annihilated by a score of 72 to 0. It required just five plunges to go over the line for the first touchdown after Sheboygan had received the kickoff and lost the ball without making a yard gain. Rennieke kicked the goal. Sheboygan again received the kickoff and on the first play, "V" Brenzel, the Legion's star end, broke through the defense and nailed the runner for a loss of eight yards. After three attempts to make their distance, Schweingruber, the Sheboygan quarter, called for a forward pass. He made a perfect throw of over 15 yards right into the arms of one of his men who dropped the ball and thus made it possible for Regenfuss to plow over opposition for the second touchdown within ten minutes after the first kickoff.

Scores Came Rapidly
Kaukauna grabbed the ball on a fumble on its kick off and Schrader, right half, took the pigskin on the first play and gained 12 yards. He crossed the fair line again in the next plunge and Rennieke added another tally by kicking the goal.

Behind the perfect mechanism of the legion front line, plowing was easy and the opposing players were swept aside like so much chaff before a wind. The line worked with such harmony that it presented a solid wall of blue while the back line men followed in much the same manner that a chip is borne along the crest of the wave. That the backs had received scientific training and at the same time made use of their heads was evident by the way in which they dodged the fallen players and picked holes which were big enough to drive a team of horses through.

A little overzealousness on the part of the legionnaires resulted in penalizing of five and three yards each. Referee McChesney, who sat back the men, watched the game closely and he penalized only when the players deserved it.

Try Aerial Attack
Schrader, who starred on the high school team two years ago, went over the line once more via the first quarter. In the second period, Sheboygan tried gains via the air route again and again and a few times they were successful in making their yards on the last down. They passed once too often and the ball was intercepted.

With the ball in Kaukauna's possession another steady advance to the goal began.

In the second half, other members of the home team were put into the scrimmage. McMorrow, Spindler, Galmacher, Engerson, Denzer, Ellmanman, Cronce and Mulholland took their positions and while they lightened the line considerably, they proved as able at holding the Sheboygan team as the others had.

Apparently unable to get over the line, Lindauer called signals and Reblitz dropped the ball over the cross bar from the 18 yard line. In the final quarter the regulars again went into the game.

Representative R. J. Weinmann, of New Orleans, is the author of the race track dope bill. It prohibits the publication of any kind of dope on races, betting odds, dope as to probable results or probable odds. It also prohibits the transmission of this dope by telephone or telegraph.

The purpose of the Weinmann bill is to knock out the handbook. To accomplish this purpose, however, followers of the racing game claim, its passage will kill racing. The bill will be vigorously fought.

Races Planned
The introduction of the Weinmann bill has not halted the work of R. S. Eddy, general manager of the B. M. R. A., in preparing for the midwinter clash of the country's thoroughbreds.

The match not only went the full limit of five sets, but the final set saw-sawed until the thirty-sixth game was reached, before victory came to Anderson and the western contingent. The Anderson-Tilden scores were 3-6, 6-1, 19-17.

Previous to the final match, the east and west had split even on the four matches of the day and evaded up the series four matches apiece.

VALLEY LEAGUE DISBANDED; NEW CIRCUIT PLANNED

League Moguls Consider Dropping Two Teams from Roster Next Season

The Fox River Valley league is dead. That was decided at a meeting of valley league moguls at the Sherman House last week. This doesn't mean that there won't be a Fox River Valley league next season but it is not likely that it will be constituted as it was this season that has just closed.

It is quite likely that two or three of the teams will be dropped out and new cities will be enrolled. It is no secret that at least two and probably three of the teams did not make expenses last season. New London was in financial difficulties for several months because of poor business conditions which kept the fans away from the ball park because they could not afford to buy tickets. Merchants subscribed large sums to keep the team in the field without hope of ever getting their money back.

Kaukauna probably would have finished the season with a clean financial record if it had a winning team. It was pretty hard to expect fans to support a losing club all season and as a result the team was in a bad way. Kimbly finished about even or perhaps a little better while Oshkosh, Appleton and Menasha had a little money in the treasury when the curtain was rung down.

It is proposed that next year's league shall include Appleton, Menasha, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Green Bay and either Kaukauna or Marinette. That kind of a league would be fairly compact and the towns are large enough to support good teams for Sunday and holiday ball. The time is not ripe for Saturday afternoon games, it was said.

Work on the new organization will be started during the winter so that the league will be ready to begin functioning early in the spring.

JACK JOHNSON CHASED BY FALL RIVER POLICE

Fall River, Mass.—Jack Johnston, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, was harassed by the police board Saturday night to abandon his theatrical performance of the week with a theatrical company here.

Commissioner John T. Swift said the board took action because of protests which had characterized Johnston as a "undesirable person" and as a "one time fugitive from justice and a convicted man under the Mann act."

Visitors Start Off With Rush But Poor Condition Saps Their Strength—Briese Plays Great Offensive Game.

Appleton high school football team got off to an auspicious start Saturday afternoon by defeating Wausau high school, 21 to 7, in a rather loosely played game at Lawrence field. Wausau outplayed Appleton at the start but the men apparently were in poor condition and could not withstand the dogged attack of Vincent's squad and succumbed in the last quarter.

Briese was the individual star of the contest, scoring two touchdowns and playing a whale of a game in the offense. Big "Bob" Bonini, who is getting more speed as he is getting older, presented a stone wall defense and was instrumental in stopping the Wausau rushes.

Wausau rushed Appleton off its feet in the first few minutes, sending Quandt over the line for a touchdown almost before Vincent's men were warmed up. Briese evened matters a little later by tearing through a broken field for marker and from that time until the last period neither team had much of an advantage.

Early season inexperience was clearly shown by the play of both eleven. Fumbles were rather frequent, passes went awry and line play was ragged.

Quandt threw a scare into the Appleton camp in the third quarter when he got away for a 40 yard dash, carrying the ball to the shadows of the local goal posts. An incomplete forward pass, however, gave the ball to Appleton and the danger was over.

Briese carried the ball pretty much of the time in the last period, winding his way through the opposition to two touchdowns.

Howard (Cub) Buck was the arbiter and pleased the fairly large crowd which witnessed the game.

FRESHMEN BASEBALLERS LOSE TO SOPHOMORES

Freshmen of Lawrence college lost to the sophomores in baseball by a score of 10 to 6 Saturday morning. As a result of the inability to play off their antagonism on All College day, when only part of the newsmen, the freshman challenged the sophomores to a baseball game. With their customary team work the older men organized their fighters and met the challenge. The game was played in six innings.

Jumping at Conclusions About Your Health

Health Talk No. 40 by James A. Rolfe, D. C.

HARDING'S SPEECH

We will try again tomorrow. There has been vast unemployment before and will be again. There will be depression after inflation, just as surely as the tides ebb and flow, but we can mitigate, we can shorten duration, we can commit all America to relief. And all America has never failed when committed to a common cause. If, out of your councils, there comes a remedy which all America helpfully may apply today, it may be helpfully employed some time again when similar conditions are encountered.

It is fair to say that you are not asked to solve the long controverted problems of our social system. We have builded the America of today on the fundamentals of economic, industrial and political life, which made us what we are and the temple requires no remaking now. We are incontestably strong. We are constitutionally strong. We are merely depressed after the fever and we want to know the way to speediest and dependable convalescence. When we know the way, everybody in America—capital and labor, employer and employee, captains of industry and the privates in the trenches will go over the top in the advance drive of peace. Frankly, it is difficult to know whether we have reached that bedrock to which reaction runs before the upward course begins. But there are representatives of the forces which make for all we are or ever can be and your soundings ought to be reliable.

I would have little enthusiasm for any proposed relief which seeks either palliation or tonic from the public treasury. The excess of stimulation from that source is to be reckoned a cause of trouble rather than a source of cure. We should achieve but little in a remedial way if we continued to excite a contributing cause.

It is not my thought to suggest your lines of conference. Mr. Hoover, the secretary of commerce, to whom has been committed the arrangements for this important meeting, will present the agenda.

I have wished to say to you that the people of the United States are very deeply interested, not alone the unemployed but all who are concerned for our common weal, and the world is looking on to find helpfulness in our American example. Fundamentally sound, financially strong, industrially unimpaired, commercially consistent and politically unafraid, there ought to be work for everybody in the United States who chooses to work and our condition at home and our places in the world depends on everybody going to work and pursuing it with that patriotism and devotion which make for a fortunate and happy people.

Nurse's Care Won Heart Of Rich Prince

London. — "Kind hearts are more than coronets."

YOU ARE INVITED to participate in the brilliant opening of Peacock Alley which takes place between the hours of seven and nine tonight.

The Pettibone-Peabody Co.

That's what Tennyson wrote, but there's an English nurse on her honeymoon tour whose kind heart also won the coronet.

She was Miss Gesine Mary Dykes, getting on for middle age and with no particular good looks. Now she is an Italian princess with wonderful palaces in Rome and elsewhere.

Several years ago there landed in England a pale young Italian whose trouble great British doctors diagnosed as an incurable spinal complaint. They said the best he could do would be to go to the seashore and put himself in the care of a good nurse.

That is where Gesine Mary comes into the picture. He fell in love with her gentleness. Soon he could not bear other faces near him when he was in pain. She alone was allowed to lace the steel corset he had to wear.

Then came the proposal and marriage. He will take his bride to the wonderful Villa Doria Pamphili situated on one of the seven hills of Rome.

ASK ALL AMERICA TO HELP JOBLESS

main problems must be solved by the conference, if industry is to be revived and work found for millions of men. These are:

- 1—Railroad rates must be reduced and railroad labor must accept a cut in wages.
- 2—Building must be speeded through the settlement of certain labor questions and reductions in prices of building materials.
- 3—Industrial strife in the mining industry must end. The price of coal must be reduced and wages of the miners in some sections cut.

Focus Public Attention
The aim of the administration is by public hearings and conference sessions to focus the attention of the country on the three major problems demanding solution.

The belief is that public opinion will force the readjustment necessary.

Efforts will be made to have railroad heads at the conference agree not to oppose many rate cuts and labor will be urged to accept moderate wage reductions without strikes.

The government has a powerful weapon to force a readjustment of the railroad situation in the plan to pay the roads the $500,000,000 of war claims due them.

To revive building, labor organizations will be asked to remove certain working restrictions which now hamper construction and banks will be urged to make larger and cheaper loans to home builders.

Should business suddenly be revived, the situation in the coal industry is

DEATHS

OEHKE FUNERAL

Funeral services for William Oehke, who died in Rochester, Minn., from injuries received when struck by a train last Thursday, were held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the late home at Neenah. Several Appleton persons were in attendance. Mr. Oehke was struck by the train shortly after he left the Mayor Brothers hospital where he had been receiving treatments. His health was rapidly improving. An autopsy revealed that the Mayo diagnosis of the man's ailment was correct.

The decedent is survived by his widow, four sons, four daughters, mother, Mrs. Minnie Oehke, Appleton, three sisters, Mrs. O. N. Zepherin and Mrs. D. E. Vaughn, Appleton, and Mrs. Fred Kanitz, Milwaukee. Mr. Oehke had been employed by the Krueger Hardware Co. at Neenah for 23 years. Fellow employees at the store were pallbearers at the funeral. Members of the Eagle lodge attended the services in a body. The decedent was born in Appleton 48 years ago.

JULIUS KERSTEN

Julius Kersten, 73, a native of Germany, died suddenly of apoplexy at 6:30 Monday morning at his home, 758 State-st. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

The decedent is survived by his widow, four children, Arthur of Ellington, William of Appleton, Mrs. Herman Manning of Neenah, Mrs. Edward Bours Ashland, 4 grandchildren and one brother, Herman Kersten of Wittenberg.

Mr. Kersten came to America from Germany about 38 years ago, settling in the town of Ellington where he lived until 8 years ago when he moved to Appleton.

said by high officials to be such that a famine would result. Officials have information showing that nonunion miners are making more money and producing more coal than the unionists. Efforts will be made to stop injunctions, strikes and other troubles.

Opening Night in Peacock Alley

As the premier event of Style Week we will hold our Fall Opening reception between the hours of seven and nine tonight. Peacock Alley, on the second floor, will be the center of interest with special features during the evening. Nothing will be sold anywhere in the store, but every section of the building will display a complete collection of the newest Fall creations. Orchestra music throughout the evening.

Velvety Wraps

Wraps of every price exhibit a velvety texture in fabric that is rich in effect and delightful to the wearer. Two new features are reflected in tonight's showings—the blouse coat and the coat with the cape effect in black. Of course there are also many straight line and flair models. Fur trimmings and lovely colors make rare combinations. There is Sorrento blue with squirrel or natural caracul. Malay brown with beaver or sable squirrel; marmot with beaver. Navy or Sorrento blue are lovely with trimmings of Krimmer. Moroccan is a rich new material. Although coats and wraps have never been so charming—prices are very moderate throughout.

Befurred Suits

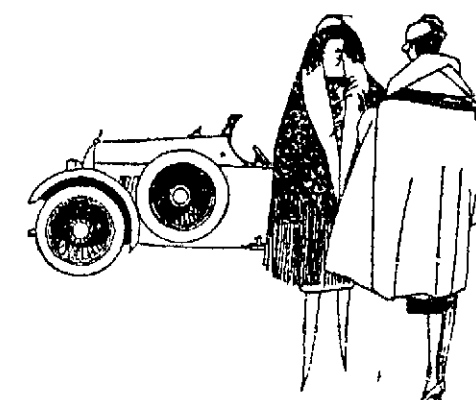

Just recently the tailored suit made a woman look as if she had been poured into it; the fitting was so precise and shapely. This Fall the designers have swung the pendulum to the far opposite side of the picture. The smartest fall suit looks just like some beautiful fabric artistically wrapped around the wearer, and always help or adorned with beautiful piece of fur. The suit showing tonight will present original colorings and brand new fabrics of wonderful texture. Prices were never so favorable.

Roshanara Crepe

This new material holds the same position in fall and winter dresses that Canton crepe occupied for summer. It is warm enough for street wear and is widely used for afternoon frocks. Roshanara crepe favors brown, navy, henna and black. It is most effective when simply used. The sole trimmings are frequently a piping of contrasting shade or silk embroidery in self or contrasting colors. Roshanara is the ultra-correct material for this season wear.

Cloth Frocks

Poirot and pique twills are developed into rich gowns. With their use, a cloth frock need no longer be a heavy and bunglesome affair. These materials are often seen in combination with crepe. While primarily designed for street wear—the beaded and embroidered models are considered correct for more formal use.

Evening

Evening gowns run the whole gamut of gorgeous color and exquisite materials. The new arrivals use chiffon, lace, embossed velvet, chiffon velvet, sequins and beads. Chiffon velvet styles are made with a tightly fitted bodice and a very full skirt with distended hips. The only trimming is a touch of color at the waist. Chiffon gowns use beads and laces for trimming. Quaintly bouffant skirts are a mass of ruffles.

Embossed velvet makes a stunning costume. The fashioning is usually quite plain, the effect depending on the rich pattern of the fabric. These gowns come in French blue and China blue, sunset and brown. Trimmings with touches of silver and chiffon.

A handsome wrap is made of Eastern Mink in a panel effect. The model is full length and has a large collar. A medium short flare coat is of mole trimmed with a collar and cuffs of Siberian squirrel. For the youthful figure there is a muskrat coat with a puffed collar of sable squirrel. These furs include the most luxurious examples we have ever shown. The collection features a splendid assortment of neck pieces.

Chapeaux

A dazzling collection of choice millinery creations is an important feature of Our Formal Opening. Many reproductions of exclusive Parisian models are shown together with lovely American designs. New colorings such as Fuchsia, new trimmings, things that will be shown this week simultaneously with their first appearance in Fashion centers. There are fur trimmed hats, models of ostrich and coque trimmings—special designs for matrons and distinctive things for misses' wear. These Exhibits will be shown throughout the week but you are especially invited to see them this evening between seven and nine o'clock.
